

Personal use

If you need our resources for your personal use (not to sell), it is allowed to use them as the main elements of the final design you include in your products.

Please remember that the copyright of Freepik resources belongs to its author (Freepik), so you won't be able to register an image that includes any of our resources.

Also, if you are a free or Essential user, the attribution needs to be added to the product you create, even if this is for personal use. You can check how to do this from our attribution article here.

As a Premium, Premium+ or Pro user, you don't need to credit the author when using the resources, but please remember to download the licenses.

You must comply with the Terms of Use, which are included in the license document you will obtain with your resource as a Free or as a subscribed user.

Remember that you are not authorized to commercialize or deliver the original (or modified) file to anyone; neither may you sublicense, resell or rent any of Freepik's resources.

← PackagingPress articles →